

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

DESIGNERS

BROWSE BY CATEGORY ▾

SNEAKERS

FOOTWEAR

TOPS

OUTERWEAR

STAFF PICKS

COLLECTIONS

 Dry Clean
Only

Walking Backwards Into the Future: Analyzing 15 Years of Y-3

Words Angelo Spagnolo

Date February 19, 2018

Share

In 2003 Yohji Yamamoto and adidas began Y-3, a collaboration that, when surveying fashion's recent history, was and remains supremely ahead of its time. Long before designers like Raf Simons and Rick Owens worked with adidas, before anyone could imagine Jun Takahashi having a recurring collection with Nike, before "athleisure" ever spun forth from a marketer's lips, there was Y-3. Yamamoto and adidas defined the now familiar meeting place of fashion and sportswear.

By the time Yamamoto approached adidas, his namesake label was more than 30 years old, his story well-chronicled and his status as a legend of avant garde fashion thoroughly cemented. By his own admission, Yamamoto's enthusiasm for fashion was waning.

"Fashion had become so boring," Yamamoto told i-D in 2016. "I felt I had come too far from the street. I couldn't find people wearing my clothes anymore and I felt so lonely. At the time, New York businessmen were starting to walk to work in their suits and sneakers. I found this strange mix incredibly charming, a fascinating hybrid."

Follow Angelo on Instagram here.

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

Looks from Y-3's inaugural collection during the Spring/Summer 2003 season

But adidas was not the first name Yamamoto thought of when he set his eye on athletics.

"I made a phone call to Nike," Yamamoto told Style.com (now Vogue Runway) in 2015. "They gave me a very proper answer: 'Thank you very much, Mr. Yamamoto, but we are going never to fashion, we are going only to sportswear.'"

Yamamoto then turned to adidas.

"In the beginning we just wanted to borrow some 'three stripes' trainers from adidas for my Fall/Winter 2000-01 show," Yamamoto told Interview Magazine in 2013. "In Japan, the three stripes were everywhere, and the young crowd did not take them off even when it was time to go to bed."

Unlike Nike, adidas was immediately receptive. At the time such a collaboration was a shock to the industry.

"For most of his lengthy and impressive career, Yohji Yamamoto has been aligned with design's avant garde: influential, admired and respected," Vogue wrote after the debut of Y-3's first collection. "But never what you might call a big commercial success."

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

Looks from Y-3 Fall/Winter 2003

Adidas was taking a massive gamble, but early reception of the collection was overwhelmingly positive. Y-3 sent more than 60 looks down the runway, showing the breadth of Yamamoto's creative interpretation of "the brand with the three stripes."

Those stripes, along with the brand new Y-3 logo, were brandished liberally across oversized track pants and hoodies, jumpsuits, robes and blazers. The typically Yohji, minimal color palette of black, white and navy worked to temper the boldness of athletic branding. And when, toward the end of the collection, stripes and bright floral prints shared the canvas on a handful of shorts, jackets and dresses, the chaos worked.

The brand's second collection, Fall/Winter 2003, was even stronger, Yamamoto's masterful eye for volume and proportion meshing perfectly with cold weather staples like parkas and scarves. Against, perhaps, all logical estimates, the marriage between Yohji and adidas was harmonious.

"It's a tension between Yohji and adidas," explained Y-3's design director for footwear. "If it's too adidas, it doesn't work. If it's too Yohji, you can buy that already from Yohji. It's when these two things that shouldn't go together, do come together, you create something new."

From the start Yamamoto embraced, and was invigorated by, the challenge of designing within the loose framework of the sportswear giant.

"At the time I was really tired of making fancy clothing," he said. "This collaboration was sporty but elegant. It was complicated, difficult. I was inspired."

Looks from Y-3 Fall/Winter 2007

By the middle of the decade Y-3 had hit its stride. Sales were good, and Yamamoto's penchant for theatrical runway shows made every season's presentation an event. Y-3's Fall/Winter 2007 collection, which legendary fashion writer Tim Blanks noted for its "increasing sophistication," was shown on the basketball court of Hunter College in New York City.

The collection encapsulated the highs of what Y-3 could be. The sharp and brutal of sports gear.

runway shows made every season's presentation an event. Y-3's Fall/Winter 2007 collection, which legendary fashion writer Tim Blanks noted for its "increasing sophistication," was shown on the basketball court of Hunter College in New York City.

The collection encapsulated the height of what Y-3 could be. The charm and kitsch of sports graphics, presented with an almost cartoon softness, were patched onto knit suits and nylon parkas. Washed leather moto jackets preceded exaggerated ribbed turtlenecks, perfectly cut peacoats and sweats, each with cinched cuffs. At its most commercial, the collection recalled David Beckham at his best. But there were classic Yohji touches as well: A three-striped sarong topped with green military style vest, fuchsia striped trousers and double-breasted blazers.

A year later, in 2008, Y-3 opened its first standalone store in New York's West Village. The glowing, if somewhat bemused New York Times review of the store echoed the strange accessibility of the collaboration.

"Yohji Yamamoto's own line of clothing sometimes makes you feel as if you are too stupid to understand it," wrote The Times' Mike Albo. "But the Y-3 collaboration gives the designer a healthy set of limits for his ideas to have more popular appeal."

Indeed Yamamoto himself credits the constraint of adidas with stimulating his creativity.

"If I'm told 'Yohji, you are free, you can do anything you want,' then I struggle," he explained in 2013.

The first released iteration of the Y-3, debuting during the Fall/Winter 2013 season

But not every Y-3 collection is met with glowing approval. A need for "editing" is a common criticism, and every few seasons the brand's output unsuccessfully strays from the core aesthetic. The early collections, at their worst, were too heavily influenced by the early aughts, veering toward excess rather than restraint. Later, for Spring 2011, the brand half-heartedly explored a theatrical, rock-and-roll motif while abandoning nearly all the athletic charm of adidas. Y-3 is strongest when both parties are equally represented.

Despite fair critiques—a Yohji Yamamoto project is never going to please everyone—the commercial longevity of the brand cannot be denied.

"Surely the Y-3 formula—replicated so often by adidas and other sportswear companies since—is obvious," wrote Vogue alongside its review of Y-3's Fall/Winter 2017 collection. "Add a brand that every kid on the planet knows about to a brand every fashion-curious kid might have heard of. Then let them bask in the righteousness of wearing a high-fashion label whilst being simultaneously reassured by its sportswear partner's ubiquity."

In adidas' ubiquity rests the other, equally obvious reason for the brand's popularity and success: sneakers. Y-3 has created too many sneakers, iterations on adidas classic silhouettes and wholly unique shoe designs, to list. The brand didn't, as one writer for Interview wrote, create the designer sneaker market, but they partner's ubiquity.

In adidas' ubiquity rests the other, equally obvious reason for the brand's popularity and success: sneakers. Y-3 has created too many sneakers, iterations on adidas classic silhouettes and wholly unique shoe designs, to list. The brand didn't, as one writer for Interview wrote, create the designer sneaker market, but they certainly were a catalyst to the movement. Y-3's rise, too, coincided nicely with the steady growth of mainstream sneaker culture. Shoes put the brand in front of customers who may never have had interest in Yohji before.

Even as Yamamoto's own brand struggled in the wake of the global financial crisis of the late 2000s, Y-3 stayed relatively strong, thanks largely to demand for its high-priced sneakers. In 2013, a decade into Y-3, the brand released what has become its most well-known and coveted sneaker design—the Qasa—spawning multiple recurring versions thereof. The collaboration between Yamamoto and adidas started with sneakers, and on sneakers its success will continue to depend.

Though the brand's history is relatively short, and Yamamoto himself is now in his mid-70s, Y-3 is still barreling ahead. The brand's aesthetic has always had a futuristic lean, and in 2016, when they were tapped to design the flight suits for Virgin Galactic's pilots, that futurism was put to a practical test (though Yamamoto joked that he wouldn't make it to space, because you can't smoke cigarettes there.) In their review of the first American Y-3 store, The New York Times noted a pair of gold metallic sneakers which "looked as if they were designed for a stroll on the surface of Mars." In the near future this may be more reality than mere observation.

In fact, the latter half of Y-3's reign has been arguably stronger than the first. In 2012 the brand captured British cool in a manner that has eluded Brits themselves, tastefully showcasing the obvious but not easily subdued connection between plaid and sport.

For Fall/Winter 2015 Y-3 presented one of the most subtle and luxurious explorations of militaria, perhaps fashion's most trod and tired ground, in recent memory. A parade of rich, minimally branded, monochromatic flight suits and jackets punctuated by heavy knits and soft, elementary camo prints painted a picture of a not-too-distant future where class allegiances are even more closely tied to one's chosen attire. If Fall/Winter 2015 showed us the uniform of the stylish oppressor, Spring/Summer 2017, another triumph, is the garb of the youthful resistance, ready to riot or rave, depending on circumstance. Yamamoto is thinking about what his customers may be facing in 10, 20 years, and how they might look their best as they do battle.

To those not paying close attention it may seem amiss to praise the consistency of a brand and a designer who deal so liberally in whim and experimentation. Yet, while each collection features a dizzying range of garments in unexpected fabrics, patterns and finishes, the Yamamoto touch is always there, largely unchanged. The first Y-3 collection and the most recent both feature overalls (hardly an adidas staple), jumpsuits and oversized shorts. The collaboration's commitment to trying anything and everything has kept who deal so liberally in whim and experimentation. Yet, while each collection features a dizzying range of garments in unexpected fabrics, patterns and finishes, the Yamamoto touch is always there, largely unchanged. The first Y-3 collection and the most recent both feature overalls (hardly an adidas staple), jumpsuits and oversized shorts. The collaboration's commitment to trying anything and everything has kept it from falling victim to trends, leaving each season feeling both new and, usually, just the right amount of familiar.

Yamamoto's age has led to questions about his future in the industry, but the designer has given no indication of slowing in his mainline or in his work with adidas. It is not naively optimistic to think the man may go on surprising us for years to come. The collaboration has spurred an impressive momentum that would be hard to stifle. As Yamamoto famously stated, "With my eyes turned to the past, I walk backward into the future"; at this point, it seems, the only thing that could stop Y-3 is the the Y himself.

Tags: yohji-yamamoto, adidas, y-3

SOLD

4 months ago (ever-3-years)

Y-3
Kyujo / Black and White
$64 $80 20% off
See Similar

SOLD

Sold almost 3 years ago

Y-3
pants new
$162 (Sold Price)
See Similar

SOLD

over 3 years ago (ever-4-years)

Y-3
Pin-stripe Cardigan
$153 $170 10% off
See Similar

SOLD

Sold over 3 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAM...
Black Galaxy Tee
$56 (Sold Price)
See Similar

SOLD

SOLD

SOLD

SOLD

Document title: Walking Backwards Into the Future: Analyzing 15 Years of Y-3 | Grailed
Capture URL: <https://www.grailed.com/drycleanonly/history-of-y-3>
Capture timestamp (UTC): Wed, 13 Jul 2022 16:48:36 GMT

Page 6 of 11

Exhibit 13

Page 6 of 11

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

Sold over 3 years ago

Y-3

Y 3 Track Top From AW 17
$110 (Sold Price)See Similar

XS

Sold almost 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Future Low - Black
$290 (Sold Price)See Similar

7.5

Sold over 3 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3

Y-3 Adidas Black Zip Hoodie
$80 (Sold Price)See Similar

S

Sold almost 4 years ago

Y-3

Y-3 Zip-Up Hooded Jacket
$80 (Sold Price)See Similar

L

Sold almost 4 years ago

Y-3

Tee
$65 (Sold Price)See Similar

M

Sold almost 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

New AC 3505 Waffle Sweaters
$50 (Sold Price)See Similar

L

Sold almost 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

New AC 3505 Waffle Sweaters
$170 (Sold Price)See Similar

M

almost 4 years ago

Y-3

Embroidered Logo Hoodie
$94See Similar

M

Sold almost 4 years ago

Y-3

Shorts Outwear
$175 (Sold Price)See Similar

32

Sold about 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

BNWT! AC 3432 Waffle Sweatpants L...
$170 (Sold Price)See Similar

34

Sold about 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Brand New Short
$105 (Sold Price)See Similar

31

Sold about 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Pureboost Triple Black Sneakers
$115 (Sold Price)See Similar

9.5

Sold about 4 years ago

Y-3

Y-3 Logo Stripe Tee
$60 (Sold Price)See Similar

M

Sold about 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3

Qasa
$125 (Sold Price)See Similar

7.5

Sold about 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Triple White Qasa Hi
$177 (Sold Price)See Similar

7.5

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

'FINAL DROP' Boost QR Run
$120 (Sold Price)See Similar

9

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Turtleneck Collar Sleeveless Tech Top
$90 (Sold Price)See Similar

M

Sold over 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3

Mutable Windbreaker
$130 (Sold Price)See Similar

S

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Saikou White
$170 (Sold Price)See Similar

9

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

*RARE AF* Y-3 Sample Joggers Blac...
$265 (Sold Price)See Similar

32

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Y-3 Buckle Cargo Trousers
$120 (Sold Price)See Similar

37

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Track Hoodie
$91 (Sold Price)See Similar

S

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Y-3 Yohji Yamamoto Black Shirt Coat
$80 (Sold Price)See Similar

S

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Y-3 White Run Boost Size 10 FINAL ...
$170 (Sold Price)See Similar

10

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Future Low - AOP/Black
$220 (Sold Price)See Similar

10.5

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Hoodie
$130 (Sold Price)See Similar

XL

Sold over 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3

Grey Y-3 Zip Up
$75 (Sold Price)See Similar

L

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Y-3 Future Tech Bomber
$170 (Sold Price)See Similar

S

Sold over 4 years ago

ADIDAS x Y-3

Y-3 Pure Boost Zg Knit White Black O...
$375 (Sold Price)See Similar

11.5

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Y-3 Uniform Tee *FINAL DROP*
$114 (Sold Price)See Similar

L

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3

Hawaiian Shirt
$125 (Sold Price)See Similar

L

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 x YOHJI YAMAMOTO

Y-3 SPORT ULTRALIGHT PANT
$350 (Sold Price)See Similar

32

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

over 4 years ago

Y-3
Qasa Hi Floral
$300
See Similar

8

♡

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3
Kubo Shandal
$45 (Sold Price)
See Similar

11.5

♡

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3
STEAL: Black Thick Sole Slip on
$90 (Sold Price)
See Similar

13

♡

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3
Yohji Yamamoto Pureboost Grey/Blac...
$225 (Sold Price)
See Similar

9

♡

SOLD

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3
Y-3 QR RUN BOOST
$70 (Sold Price)
See Similar

9

♡

SOLD

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 * YOHJI YAMAMOTO
NWT $245 Pin-up Girl Shirt UK ONLY!
$100 (Sold Price)
See Similar

M

♡

SOLD

Sold over 4 years ago

ADIDAS * Y-3
Y-3 sweater with multiple zipper pockets
$89 (Sold Price)
See Similar

M

♡

SOLD

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3 * YOHJI YAMAMOTO
Y-3 Short Sleeve Hoodie
$75 (Sold Price)
See Similar

L

♡

SOLD

Sold over 4 years ago

Y-3
Manga Print High Neck Jacket
$75 (Sold Price)
See Similar

M

♡

Discussion

Add a comment

COMMENT

q1050 (24)

over 4 years

>tfw yohji will die in your lifetime :'(

15 ↑

REPLY

sherb (177)

over 4 years

the Y3 of old is nothing like its current iteration. The shows used to be interesting and the clothing was purportedly on the same level quality wise as YYPH, without as many garish "Y-3" logos.

13 ↑

REPLY

guerrero_sto (156)

over 4 years

tell yohji i love him

7 ↑

REPLY

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

guerrero_sto (156)

over 4 years

tell yohji i love him

7 ↑

REPLY

harmed (1)

over 4 years

Yohji so wholesome

3 ↑

REPLY

groupie (5577)

over 4 years

Great read. Qasa is to this day one of my favorite sneakers of all time.

2 ↑

REPLY

Madmiman (305)

over 4 years

y-3 !!!!!

1 ↑

REPLY

mrporterhaus (470)

over 4 years

Yohji's collections age like fine wine

1 ↑

REPLY

sherb (177)

over 4 years

I guess, no one wears it well though. But when the used prices are the same as y's/yyph, why would you?

1 ↑

REPLY

Hotgarbage (535)

almost 2 years

Uhhhhh miharayasuhiro x PUMA LAUNCHED IN 2000?

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

melvin_bryan (52)

over 2 years

Yohji Yamamoto is the best.

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

electro8 (2)

over 4 years

@q1050 Don't fucking do this to me bro

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

thunderfever (678)

over 4 years

Paste

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

god (1018)

over 4 years

really great article

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

Professionalisme (185)

over 4 years

GooD Article Y-3

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

FCasWardrobe (8)

over 4 years

Interesting article 🙌

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

upgradeninja (106)

over 4 years

GRAILED

Q Search

SEARCH

SHOP

SELL

READ

LOGIN

SIGN UP

thunderfever (678)

over 4 years

Paste

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

god (1018)

over 4 years

really great article

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

Professionalisme (185)

over 4 years

GooD Article Y-3

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

FCasWardrobe (8)

over 4 years

Interesting article 🙌

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

upgradeninja (106)

over 4 years

good read

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

shoelovedsins98 (6)

over 4 years

also what collection are the clothes from the first thumbnail photo

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

shoelovedsins98 (6)

over 4 years

@polishedpunk what nordstrom location

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

ThiccOwens (176)

over 4 years

if anyone has a pair of sz. 11 Qasas for sale hmu

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

GNRSN (54)

over 4 years

@sherb Visit Copenhagen, feels like every time I'm there I see some guy on the street wearing full y3 or in a good combination with all black drape'y clothing. Usually wearing classic qasa B-balls or racers with the red accent. Probably due to the Henrik Vibskov store stocking (or at least used to stock) the brand.

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

thexdore (51)

over 4 years

@q1050 :(

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY

guext65 (1746)

over 4 years

nice

↑ UPVOTE

REPLY